Wells Fargo Funds to rebrand as Allspring Funds

As previously announced, Wells Fargo Asset Management (WFAM) will be changing its company name to Allspring Global Investments upon the closing of the previously announced sale transaction of WFAM by Wells Fargo & Company (NYSE: WFC) to GTCR LLC and Reverence Capital Partners, L.P. The new corporate name is expected to go into effect on or about the closing date of the transaction, which is anticipated to occur in the second half of 2021, subject to customary closing conditions.

As part of this transition, all mutual funds within the Wells Fargo Funds family will be rebranded as Allspring Funds. Additionally, each individual fund will have “Wells Fargo” removed from its fund name and will be replaced with “Allspring.” The fund name changes are expected to go into effect on October 11, 2021.

Please plan to update your systems on October 11, 2021, to reflect each fund’s new name. Attached is a complete fund listing with CUSIPs and ticker symbols for each fund in our family.

In addition, following the closing of the transaction, Wells Fargo Funds Management, LLC, the fund’s investment manager; Wells Capital Management, LLC and Wells Fargo Asset Management (International) Limited, each subadvisors to certain funds; and Wells Fargo Funds Distributor, LLC, the funds’ principal underwriter, will each migrate to the Allspring name.

Stock values fluctuate in response to the activities of individual companies and general market and economic conditions. Bond values fluctuate in response to the financial condition of individual issuers, general market and economic conditions, and changes in interest rates. Changes in market conditions and government policies may lead to periods of heightened volatility in the bond market and reduced liquidity for certain bonds held by the fund. In general, when interest rates rise, bond values fall and investors may lose principal value. Interest rate changes and their impact on the fund and its share price can be sudden and unpredictable. High-yield securities have a greater risk of default and tend to be more volatile than higher-rated debt securities. The use of derivatives may reduce returns and/or increase volatility. Securities issued by U.S. government agencies or government-sponsored entities may not be guaranteed by the U.S. Treasury. The fund will indirectly be exposed to all of the risks of an investment in the underlying funds and will indirectly bear expenses of the underlying funds. Certain investment strategies tend to increase the total risk of an investment (relative to the broader market). This fund is exposed to foreign investment risk, mortgage- and asset-backed securities risk, regulatory risk, and smaller-company investment risk. Consult the fund’s prospectus for additional information on these and other risks.

Carefully consider a fund’s investment objectives, risks, charges, and expenses before investing. For a current prospectus and, if available, a summary prospectus, containing this and other information, visit wfam.com. Read it carefully before investing.

Wells Fargo Asset Management (WFAM) is the trade name for certain investment advisory/management firms owned by Wells Fargo & Company.
