International Stocks	American Funds EuroPacific Growth F3	FEUPX	Active international stock strategy (mutual fund) managed by a large, experienced team of portfolio managers, each running their own sleeve of the overall strategy. While each portfolio manager has a different investment approach, they all have a long investment horizon, generating diversified exposure to developed and emerging markets and low annual turnover.
International Stocks	Dodge & Cox International Stock I	DODFX	Active international manager (mutual fund) led by an eight-person committee, whose members have an average tenure of over 20 years. The strategy invests in medium-to-large well-established companies that appear to be temporarily undervalued by the stock market but have a favorable outlook for long-term growth. At least 80% of its total assets in equity securities are in non-U.S. companies.

Disclosure: This presentation of CAPTRUST Individual Securities strategies' performance uses "representative" or "lead" accounts (rather than a composite of all accounts using the strategy) in order to eliminate the impact on performance of account activity (such as cash flows) that would skew performance numbers. This is actual performance of a "lead" account in each strategy on a net of fees basis as measured against benchmarks (both index and/or custom) for purposes of illustration only. This performance is the actual experience of the "lead" account in the strategy, but not of all CAPTRUST clients utilizing the illustrated strategy(s). Past performance does not guarantee future results, so an investor's experience implementing any one of these single stock strategy will not be the same. CAPTRUST Individual Securities Strategies are executed on a separate account basis and are not mutual funds. Source: Morningstar, FactSet.
